Eumar... one step forward

Eumar was founded in 1991. Based in Estonia, a Nordic country with one of the fastest development in the region. Being situated in the northern part of Europe we are required to be highly efficient in all aspects. Our approach is functional, sustainable and one that creates timeless value. These were two fascinating decades of unforgettable experiences and innovations which started as a family-owned workshop company. Today it has expanded into a modern manufactory applying innovative production technology.

We are company specializing in casting composite sanitary product. The materials can be casted into nearly any form or size, and with large variations of colours and structures. Our aim is to give the clients competitive advantage by bringing the value of innovations and excellent design; to offer broader range of products and materials based on advanced technologies.

In the year 2012 Eumar Santehnika is about facing greatest changes; we have opened second and brand new production line. Additionally to well-known mineral marble product Eumar starts producing new generation of composite solid surface product. The product range also became wider; besides well-known Eumar washbasins, we will be now producing also bathtubs and shower trays. This is a bold challenge with rough schedule for whole Eumar's team but we wouldn't start before knowing that our solutions are needed and the market is ready for innovation. We are delighted to escort you into the future!

We invite you to take a part in a discussion and use the opportunity to tailor our renewed factory and its output to your needs!

Executive

I´m standing in the shadow of the birch looking down at the palm of my hand, I´m six years old and I have just discovered a thin fragile piece of one of nature´s most remarkable shapes, the eggshell. From that point and beyond I started collecting and admire them and their captivating forms; green shells, shells with colored dots, small and large ones.

Growing up in north Sweden close to nature, exploring it intimately and discovering nuances in seasons and transience, has founded my relation to life and to the creative process. The very harsh nature has formed me into a designer that always tries to bring out an authentic asceticism, where simplicity plays the key role in a sensible balance between form, innovation and expression. So simple and yet so severe, nature is a very genuine source of inspiration.

The bathroom collection OVO brings the very strong and yet so fragile egg shape to mind, one of nature´s most supreme, complete and powerful forms. The shape and the different sizes of the units in the family allows a playful approach and a possibility to arrange the concept in a harmonized anarchy. Playful and pure with thousands of combinations, just like the variations in nature.

A clear distinct contrast between white and black, the flowing inner forms challenging the straight outer supporting shapes, characterizes the expression. The same functional formula applies to all units of the concept. Common for all parts is that the technical elements are positioned at the narrowest part of the form. This leaves plenty of room for the main function of each unit, to be freely offered to the user of the washbasin, bath, shower or sauna.

I wish that the OVO collection will be something practical and creative for various contexts for a long time, designed in a form that makes people want to collect and arrange them in the same way as I did with my first eggshells.

CreaCore – innovative material by CreaCore Stone Production

Latest collection by Eumar: OVO SPA and Origami where implemented by using new material for its product - CreaCore.

New material CreaCore is improved and modified version of well-known composite Solid Surface. Because of its beauty, performance, and durability, Solid Surface has become the material of choice for sanitary product for any application, both home and commercial use.

CreaCore is unique and technologically advanced vacuum-treated composite material, constituted by a high percentage of natural minerals and a small percentage of extremely pure acrylic modified polyester (which is homogenies mixture with no surface layer). The main ingredient is aluminium trihydrate (ATH) – the mineral excavated from quarries.

Specially developed grade of aluminum trihydrate which is basic ingredient in the formula, for better filler wet-out and particle packing allow us to improve surface hardness and stain resistance.

Because of this MMA addition our material has increased tensile elongation as the result of added toughness / durability. Elevated temperature curing shows us much improved physical properties of the material, especially the heat distortion temperature and UV stability; that also allow us to ensure a complete degree of cure all through the product.

Most Solid Surface materials are released as a flat sheet. CreaCore is a moulded material, which means that we do not fabricate product out of the sheets, but pour it directly into the moulds with injection technique. That allows us to save on resources, be extremely effective and much less labour intensive production.

Thanks to its durability and easy to clean properties, CreaCore is a superbly practical material; it retains its value over the years, performing a long-term investment. Furthermore, the material has the unique advantage of being repairable, renewed and prefabricated with seamless joints. So your CreaCore surface will be as pristine as ever, year after year. Durable and easy to clean, CreaCore is a superbly practical material. Also it is 100% recyclable.

Products made of CreaCore are highly aimed to be a part of sustainable, wise way of living with no compromise to the aesthetic, beautiful design.

Just touch with your fingers that silky smooth surface and you will admire the seamless beauty that we have achieved with CreaCore. This is the feeling of pure luxury. Cool, sophisticated and uncompromisingly elegant in any bathroom environment.
