

A Washbasin Like You've Never Saw Before

The Abisko Washbasin from Eumar is a totally new concept for our modern lifestyle. In these environmentally-conscious times the cast mineral marble washbasin Abisko brings us back to nature. Inspired by the unspoilt waterfalls of the Swedish National Park Abisko, the sink is unfettered by pipes. Nor does it allow water to accumulate in a big tub, something designers Johan Kauppi and Lars Sundström deem unnecessary. Rather, one should be aware of just how much water one is using, and catch it with careful consideration. An extraordinary, sculptural piece, the Abisko washbasin captures the freshness of mountain streams as water cascades down the length of the sink to slip away down a discreet floor-level grill. Living with an awareness of our limited resources, surrounded by cherished objects... these are the keys to happiness offered by the Abisko Washbasin from Eumar.

Abisko Washbasin

Freedom of water

Abisko washbasin catches the freedom and simplicity of unspoiled mountain springs and waterfalls, inspired by the Swedish national park Abisko, probably with the purest water in Europe. Abisko washbasin is an appeal to care about water and awareness of the western cultures waste of natural resources.

Sculpture

Abisko means a free and moderate treatment of water, without drain pipes and other unnecessary details around. The simplicity should enhance the water to something more valuable than "just water". Pure water is not a matter of course, but an exclusive product of nature that shouldn't be accumulated in big tubs. Just like in nature, you find your own way to catch the water to be used with carefulness and moderation.

Simplicity

Advantages of Abisko are a minimum of components used together with very low energy consumption during production. Most important of all is that Abisko contribute to a lower usage and a more deliberate relation to water in general. Abisko is intended both for a private market and public contexts as hotels or spas.

Designer Johan Kauppi

Usage

Abisko is with its organic form available for everyone. The design allows free and creative usage compare to traditional basins. Why not wash your tired feet in a mountain spring during your stay at the hotel? Abisko is also easy to keep clean and need no special maintenance.

Material

Cast marble consist of a polymeric compound of 80% marble powder and synthetic binder and can be utilized or recycled for use as fillings in various industries. Cast marble is characterized by high light resistance and antibacterial features. Cast marble is also nearly maintenance free, casual scratches can be removed with polishing.

Eumar Washbasin Factory

The Eumar Company was established in 1991 and nowadays we are leading producer of cast mineral marble washbasins in Baltic States, constantly exporting the products to 12 European countries.

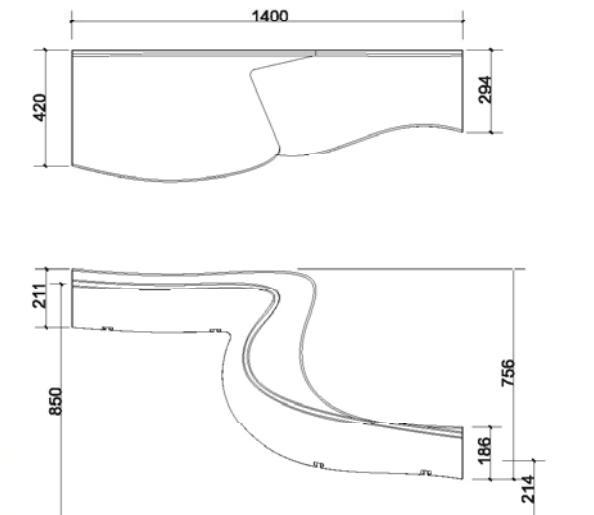

Our creative ambitions and focus on customer satisfaction, combined with flexibility of our technology and perfect material knowledge allow us to be always extremely updated to the needs and requirement of our customers.

What is washbasin all about???

No doubt, the most commonly used object in your bathroom is the washbasin. It plays a significant role and should therefore be modern, appealing, easy in use, and durable.

From a simple hand wash basin to a luxurious one! Washbasin large or small, round, square or rectangular, wall mount, integrated or table-mount, for home use or public toilets – any basin at any size, shape and application can be found from a wide range of Eumar!

Product that are both functional and a source of pleasure – this had always been a passion.

what moves you up?

More than 90 % of your success is determined by your "reference group". Your reference group is defined as the people with whom you habitually identify and associate the most. You are like a chameleon in that you take on the attitudes, behaviours, values, and beliefs of the people you deal with the most.

Discover the art of our service concept and bunch of benefits at Eumar and Berdi. With us you actually get into a source of energy, enthusiasm and motivation that fills you full of joy and exhilaration which moves you forward even faster toward your goals. Find product and the partner to move you up!

we energize your business!

DESIGN BY WE THINK

www.washbasinfactory.com/abisko
www.wethink.se/abisko

eumar®
a q u a g e n i u s

Eumar Washbasin Factory
Betooni 11A, 11415; Tallinn, Estonia
Tel. (372) 60 50 530
Fax (372) 60 50 535
eumar@eumar.ee
www.washbasinfactory.com